Wow the nerve you have!! Your pea brain isn't getting it. People have spent time editing the clips together, using effects, transitions and coloring on them and then you go and TAKE those to use in your own video when you didn't DO IT!! THAT is stealing! Your taking part of someones video that they worked hard on to put together! If you don't take this video down I am going to get all my Richard Armitage fans on your ass!! Keep blocking me bitch!

Here again I get some feedback from another thief. You like others stole them from BBC, without one right on earth. NOW, you're pissed? WOW what nerve. Just call me Robin Hood. I take from someone that stole it before I did. Takes one to know one.

Clip theft is reviled in the fan vidding community because the clip thieves steal the editing techniques and skills of other vidders. I color corrected my clips, zoomed in, used keyframes to pan and zoom, other effects, and you swiped all of those. Others might think that *you* did that color correction and used those keyframes in the way you did. But that was *my* work.

Stealing is stealing. You, and everyone else stole those clips from Robin Hood, (Or the BBC if you will.) I will use what I please, just as you have. After all this is said, you come my channel to place a video response? WATERMARK on a group of clips that you stole? Don't be redeclious!

elvirasweeneyvids (38 minutes ago) Reply | Spam 0

Yeah, you stole our skills. You obviously are not capable of getting your own clips. Also, it's obvious by your video that you have no concept of aspect ratio (clue: some of your clips are distorted and too elongated, some are too fat and squat). The clips you stole from me don't have an aspect ratio problem because I zoomed in and made them all 4:3, which your video was saved as by default. Otherwise, the clips would have been elongated (again, because you have no clue what you're doing).

Try getting your own clips, instead of using mine. The Lucas North clips with the "E" watermark belong to me. Get a clue.

If you don't want them taken, then post them privately. Write to me, and I'll tell you how to do it. What we're really discussing here is who's the biggest thief. You own nothing, NODA, so there. Maybe this will teach you not to steal from the BBC. You went and got clips, just like I did. It takes one to know one.

You are pretending to have skills that you don't have when you swipe clips that someone else worked on first (added effects, edited, etc). That is where "stealing" comes into play. I realize that your editing skills are pretty minimal and maybe you don't realize this, but other vidders do, which is why there is such a stigma against it in fan vidding circles.

"Can't touch this"...and what a shame that is. Very tempting!
